AM13 GFL 12A	Serck can now offer equivalent coolers to match a selection of the original cooler ranges. Unless otherwise stated these coolers are. 1. Thermally equal or slightly better than your current cooler; pressure drops will be very close to that of your current cooler 2. The shell side inlet and outlet positions and connection sizes will be the same. Due to minor changes in the shell diameter these may be up to 3mm higher or lower. 3. The tube side inlet and outlet positions and connection sizes will be the same. Due to minor construction changes, some of the range have alternative port sizes. 4. The mounting positions are adjustable to be the same as your current cooler with a mounting kit. 5. The construction standards and metals used will be as your current cooler, shell body now not cast aluminum Whilst the cooler may look a little different due to minor manufacturing differences. The Serck equivalent cooler will fit, form and function (unless otherwise advised) as your current cooler.
